LISCR appoints new General Manager for London

THE Liberian International Ship & Corporate Registry (LISCR), the US-based manager of the Liberian Registry, has appointed Captain Stuart Williams as general manager of its dedicated office in London, in succession to Giles Heimann.

Stuart Williams was previously Operations Manager for UK-based Condor Ferries, for whom he also sailed as a chief officer and worked as a marine and safety superintendent. Prior to that, he served as a first officer for P&O Cruises. He says, "I am delighted to be working for the Liberian Registry, which continues to grow while maintaining its international reputation for safety and quality."

LISCR Chief Operating Officer Scott Bergeron says, "Stuart Williams provides the ideal balance of management and seagoing experience that we need in a strategic location for international shipping such as London. LISCR believes in providing shipowners and operators with access to senior management expertise where and when they need it. Stuart's experience of dealing with masters, superintendents, surveyors and internal managers means that he is ideally suited for this role, and he will add genuine value to the service provided by the Liberian Registry."

- The Liberian Registry is one of the world's largest and most active shipping registers, with a long-established track record of combining the highest standards for vessels and crews with the highest standards of responsive service to owners. It has recently surpassed all-time tonnage records, with 2,800 ships totalling almost 115 million dwt currently registered.
